

EGYPT IS NOT FREE

13 YEARS AFTER THE MILITARY TAKEOVER
THE HUMAN RIGHTS CRISIS CONTINUES
2013 – 2026

A NATION
BEHIND BARS
BUT ITS PEOPLE
STILL DREAM
OF FREEDOM

TENS OF
THOUSANDS
POLITICAL PRISONERS

More than 60,000
political prisoners
(estimate from human rights organisations).

THOUSANDS
KILLED SINCE 2013

Thousands of people
killed in protests,
throughout the country,
and in detention.

WIDESPREAD TORTURE
IN DETENTION CENTRES

Well-documented
torture, ill-treatment
and incommunicado
detention.

MANY ENFORCED
DISAPPEARANCES

Thousands forcibly
disappeared, with no
information on their whereabouts.

MASS TRIALS
UNFAIR JUDGEMENTS

Mass trials, in absentia
sentences and
unfair proceedings
against political opponents.

FAMILIES DESTROYED

Families separated,
lives shattered,
and an entire
generation affected.

2013: A TURNING POINT

In July 2013, Egypt's military removed the country's first democratically elected president, Dr. Mohamed Morsi.

The Rabaa and Nahda dispersals were met with mass killings, followed by a widespread crackdown on protesters,
political opponents and civil society.

DR. MOHAMED MORSI (1951 – 2019)

Egypt's first democratically elected president. He died on 17 June 2019 during
a court hearing, after
years of arbitrary detention
in inhumane conditions.
UN human rights experts
raised serious concerns
and called for an independent investigation.

GIULIO REGENI (1988 – 2016)

Italian researcher who disappeared in Cairo
in January 2016.
His body was found
bearing signs of severe torture. In September 2026, an Italian court
convicted three Egyptian
security officials of aggravated kidnapping.
The case remains a major
international concern.

ONGOING REPRESSION 2013 – 2026

Arrests of journalists, students,
human rights defenders and peaceful opponents.

Continued use of terrorism-related charges.

Deaths in custody continue
due to torture, ill-treatment and denial of medical care.

Recycling of cases and prolonged pretrial detention.

Transnational repression, including pressure
on dissidents abroad and cooperation with other countries.
